

x Contents

Return to Petrograd	247
The First Days of the Revolution in Petrograd	248
The Provisional Government	251
Puzzles of Soviet Policy	252
The Tauride Palace	253
Conflict of Powers	255
The Political Parties	258
Meetings and Speeches	259
The Campaign for Peace and National Defense	261
Lenin Arrives	264
The Communists Gain Ground	267
A Regional Convention	268
The Clash on Foreign Policy	269
The Government Crisis	274
The First Coalition	276
War and Peace	279
Conditions in the Army	280
Fraternization	281
Unrest in Kronstadt	284
Unrest in Petrograd	289
Anarchists	290
The Offensive on the Front	293
Rear Regiments Protest Against the Offensive	295
Reverse on the Front	296
The July Riots	298
The Siege of the Tauride Palace	301
The Tide Turns	306
End of the Coalition Government	308
The Impasse	310
The Question of the Constituent Assembly	312
Farewell to the Tauride Palace	313
On the Northern Front	315
The Twelfth Army and Its Commander	316
A Pledge of Discipline	319
A Sick Army	323
Enforcement of a Warrant	327
A Corps Commander	329
I Pass the Test	331
Anarchy at the Top	333
The National Conference in Moscow	337
The German Offensive	338